OUR OFFER

Catch22 is a forward looking social business; a non profit business with a social mission. For over 200 years we have been transforming disadvantaged lives and building stronger communities. Through collaboration and co-design, we create new staffing and delivery models that allow us to go further within budgetary constraints.

Catch22 works across the entire social welfare cycle. We build strong relationships with each service user, identifying their diverse needs, taking a strengths-based approach and providing personalised support. We work in close partnership with many organisations across sectors, making the best use of our different skills and resources to support children and young people to make positive and sustained changes in their lives.

OUR SERVICES

Catch22 does not take a traditional approach to delivering our work. We do things differently. We are piloting new service models to explore new ways of working. Here are some examples of the ways we are driving innovation in the social sector.

New staffing models

Project Crewe is developed in partnership with Cheshire East Council and the Department for Education's Innovation Programme, and is designed to free up social workers to manage their high-risk children in need caseloads.

Each child is allocated a qualified social worker and supported by differently qualified staff and volunteers. This model combines the expertise of social work professionals with the experience and flexibility of other frontline staff.

Pan authority models

In Cheshire, South Yorkshire and Merseyside, Catch22 is working across local authority boundaries to deliver services that protect children and young people at risk of sexual exploitation. These pan-authority models not only offer a more efficient use of resources, but also a more joined-up and effective approach to protecting vulnerable young people.

Co-designed services

Axis @ the Hive is a joint project funded by Camden Council and Camden Clinical Commissioning Group to help bridge the gap between child and adult emotional health and wellbeing services, particularly for young people who are currently not engaging with services.

Axis operates from a youth base called The Hive. Both the building and service have been co-designed with local young people. By co-creating services with those who use them, we are better able to engage and support them.
