

Catch 22 Blended Learning Policy

In the event of a college closure Catch22 are committed to provide education, learning and support for our students, through a blended learning delivery of lessons, this includes self-study and online delivery.

The reasons why we would use the blended learning approach are:

- Government advice
- College and Students absence
- Severe weather and any other eventuality meaning a site needed to close as per business continuity plans

Where possible colleges will replicate students' timetables and curriculum. This will also take into consideration safeguarding and the wellbeing of students.

Aims

- To support students to continue in education
- To ensure that the delivery of these sessions is valid, reliable and does not disadvantage students
- Meets the guidelines set out by the awarding bodies, and funding agency guidelines

Remote delivery will take place via TEAMS and a student will be provided with their own Catch22 account and email address.

These sessions will be supported by another Tutor/Teaching Assistant to support with the delivery.

Catch22 will

- Provide students with access to Teams
- Ensure support is available during online delivery this includes IT support
- Teachers/ TA available to provide ongoing feedback
- Feedback and work marked according to the Catch22 marking policy

Students are made aware of the requirements of remote delivery these include

- Teams User Guide
- Code of Conduct as detailed in Catch22 Safeguarding policy regarding online delivery
- They make themselves available throughout the sessions and participate in all the activities
- Where they can upload and save their work to a secure portal, allowing tutors and students to communicate and provide feedback.
